ENOUGH FLOUR IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY TO LAST US UNTIL LATE IN SUMMER

UNEQUALLY DISTRIBUTED HOWEVER AND FOOD ADMINISTRATOR SHORT IS TAKING QUANTITIES WHEREVER FOUND

Price of $3.45 Per Sack Is Set As Maximum At Which Wheat Flour May Be Sold

HOGGISH HOARDING IS FOUND

The Federal Food Administration is performing a herculean task these days and the far reaching effect of the efforts of this band of patriotic citizens is becoming apparent on every hand. The Philadelphia papers carried a story the other day to the effect that a partial food survey of that city disclosed the fact that seven hundred families were hoarding more than 140,000 pounds of flour.

That story made interesting reading for the average Cearfield county patriot, who marveled greatly at the moral shortcomings of the city dweller who would so flagrantly violate the orders of the food administrator and unpatriotically store up what this nation and her allies at war so sadly needed.

Judging from the experiences of John F. Short, Federal Food Administrator for Clearfield county, we residents of rural Pennsylvania are not in position to marvel at or point the finger of scorn at the dweller in the city of Brotherly Love for his unpatriotic conduct. Food Dictator Short has found in a survey of the county which he himself admits, is far from being as close and complete as it should and will be, that there are many people in this county equally as unpatriotic and hoggish as the most flagrant violator of the patriotic food regulations to be found anywhere.

Mr. Short's survey has disclosed the fact that there is enough flour right here in Cearfied county today to amply supply the needs of our people right through until August 1st without the addition of another pound of flour before that time.

This flour like that in almost every other section of the state and country generally is not properly or evenly distributed, however, but it is the duty of the Food Administration to see that it is so located or distributed and that is what Mr. Short says he proposes to do regardless of who has the flour now or where it is located.

When the flour regulations were first promulgated the people were requested to make a return to the County Food Administratbr a report as to the amount of flour they had on hand, the orders being that no person or family should be allowed to hold any amount in excess of enough to supply their needs for thirty days. Since that time Mr. Short has received some two hundred and fifty reports. In all these cases the name of the person with the amount of flour on hand was tabulated for future reference. That is, a record was made for the purpose of requisitioning the excess at any time the need may arise, the holder thereof of course to be paid for any flour so requisitioned.

In addition to the more than two hundred voluntary reports made the Food Administrator was also apprised of many other stores of flour, the owners of which took a chance on being compelled to pay a heavy fine and having their flour confiscated by refusing or failing to report it. A close canvass or survey will soon be made when the requirements demand and then all surplus stocks will be seized and fines imposed.

The Food administration has been carefully watching the price of flour throughout the county and has compelled many profiteers to hand back or cut down their unlawful excess profits.

For instance some dealers were found selling flour at $3.75, $3.90 and even $4.25 per sack, when the flour cost them $11 per barrel and even less, and this, too, when the food rules prescribe a profit of 70 cents per barrel to the middleman or wholesaler and not more than $1.20 to the retailer for delivery.

In several cases the Food Administrator has been notified by persons that they were obliged to pay $3.75 per sack for flour and on receipt of such complaints the retailer was called up and notified to make his flour prices $3.20 on the flour or $3.45 delivered, to avoid the penalty for profiteering. If you are paying more than the lawful price notify Food Administrator Short.

One dealer was found who was adding to the price of each sack of flour 15 cents for overhead charges and 10 cents for loss. He is not doing that now. Another selling at $3.75 per sack when called on the carpet recently said he bought his flour away back in November at a price which made $3.75 necessary to net him what the rules allowed. The Food Dictator flashed a copy of the bill for that particular November shipment which showed the flour was purchased for $10.60 per barrel, freight and war tax off.

Angelo Carmello, who runs a store just across the Centre county line at Philipsburg has been paying no attention to the food rules and as he was out of Clearfield county could not be reached by the local Food Administrator and was causing a great deal of trouble.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock Mr. Short was notified that several Clearfield Co. people had purchased a large quantity of flour from Carmello and had it stored in their homes just across the line in Clearfield county. Constable T. B. Reilley was sent to Philipsburg on the 3:45 Pennsylvania train with orders to seize the flour. When he arrived in Philipsburg Officer Reilley secured the assistance of Chief of Police Sankey and two state policemen and going to the places complained of with an auto truck they secured in three houses, all occupied by foreign families, just forty-four sacks of flour. In each case enough was left to comply with the food rules.

When the officers with their truck load of booty were coming back into Philipsburg they met Carmello with five sacks of flour in his wagon consigned to one man and they were also requisitioned and the whole lot stored in Lauderbach-Zerby's ware room for future disposition.

Last night reports were received that a number of people living down in Morris and Cooper townships had excess amounts of flour and sugar stored under brush, hay and straw about their homes and Officer Reilley, representing the Food Administrator, is down that way today attempting to round some of it up.

Food Administrator Short now has three car loads of flour on the cars ready to be shipped where State Administrator Heinz directs, this flour not being needed at this time to supply the wants of Clearfield county people.

The majority of Clearfield county people are doing their duty in the matter of food conservation and the other fellow is going to be made to do his bit. Such methods the country over will do much toward helping win the war.

ENLISTED IN REGULAR ARMY

The following Clearfield and Centre county young men enlisted in the regular army through the DuBois recruiting office this week:

John Somerville, Munson; Walter C Mark, Philipsburg; Thomas Johnson, Philipsburg; Charles H. Williams, Philipsburg; George Davis, Munson; Wendell B. Ramsey, Philipsburg; Ellwood O'Dell, Munson; John A. Erickson, Munson; Albert Simmons, Munson; Frank Conklin, Morrisdale; Russell W. Harmon, Helvetia.

Enoch H. Ball, DuBois; George H. Sutton, Mahaffey; Court E. Kitchen, Mahaffey; Orrin C. Elder, Mahaffey.

Bryan Downey of Chicago and Joe Egan, the Boston battler, will clash again at Columbus, March 11. It will be the third time they have met in the ring.

MORE LOCAL BOYS ENLIST

The number of Clearfield boys in Uncle Sam's service was increased three today when John Reed, Gust Conaway and Daniel Pancoast enlisted through the local Exemption Board and left on the 3.45 Pennsylvania train for Camp Greene at Charlotte, N. C. They will join the regular infantry.

BATTLE WITH SUB REPORTED IN THIS DELAYED REPORT

Washington, March 2.—Battling a German submarine for 2 1-2 hours the American steamship Nyanzo's armed guard sank its opponent according to a report of the chief gunner's mate Robert A. Throves made public today. The attack occurred January 18. Hampered by shrapnel from two submarines the Nyanzo manouvered skillfully while her armed guard cooly and carefully fired at the submarines They fired four shells and evidently sank them.

Strangler Ed Lewis must have been side-tracked in the wrestling championship merry-go-round. It was only a short time ago that the Kentucky grappler held the spotlight in the mat game, but now Joe Stecher, Earl Caddock and Biscuits Zbyszko are monopolizing the stage.

As Percy Houghton, Leo Leary and Reggie Brown, the Harvard football experts, are slated to return to the job at Cambridge this year, it looks as if the Crimson gridders intend to play real football instead of the informal variety.

"Hoverizing" seems to have hit the boxing game. Tommy Robson has canned his manager and is now looking after his own business affairs.

PETROGRAD IS FACING REAL INVASION

oPtrograd, March 1—Night—Petrograd is facing her "battle of the Marne." The Germans are within a few miles of Luga (100 miles southwest of Petrograd on the Riga-Petrograd railway) and which is about five hours from Petrograd. The enemy lies as in a fan formation—Pskoff the stick and Dno and Arnieff the wings. Balk is the chief food base and Pskoff the base of the advance operations. No movement of the Germans toward Luga was reported during the night, however.

"Arno Dosch-Sleurot of the New York World and I are the only American correspondents remaining in the city. Most of the British newspaper men have gone. Sisson and a small party remain. The railroad exits from the city are closed. We are prepared for a quick get-away however. The Soviet Commissary has announced it will remain until the last moment. Only the most important valuables and gold are being evacuated. In the evet of German occupation the government will remove to Moscow."

March 1—Evening — Petrograd is eager for action. A special commission is clearing out the useless bourgeoise except the able bodies trench diggers; ousting the old, young and invalids, unwillign soldiers and suspected war prisoners.

March 1—Night—Germany refuses to cease hostilities by Monday the Russian peace delegates at Brest Litovsk declared in a proclamation tonight. We order nothing to be given up without fighting the proclamation declared. Our last work is that we must make n effort to drive the Germans back as far as possible to the west.

JAP DIPLOMATS ARE DISCUSSING THE SIBERIAN QUESTION

Tokio, March 2.—An important conference dealing on the situation in Siberia was under way in the village of Hayana today. Foreign Minister Motono, Naval Minister Kato and Admiral Toga were in conference with the Emperor. The decision of the allied diplomats to withdraw from Petrograd is tantamount to a severance of diplomatic relations, it was generally regarded in official circles today. Motono told the Diet that Japan is negotiating with the allies for a new policy toward Russia.

THE ENTIRE BRITISH FRONT VISITED BY GERMAN RAIDERS

London March 2.—Extensive raiding operations over probably the whole of the British West front at night were reported by Field Marshal Haig today. At some ponts the Germans gained temporarily.

"British forces conducted successful raids in the Armentieres sector and in the neighborhood of Arleu," Haig said. "New enemy raiding parties entered our lines and took a few of our men who are missing. A few enemy soldiers entered the trenches in the neighborhood of Hargicourt but all were driven off. Stray soldiers entered Portuegese trenches on a wide front from Neuve Chapelle. A counter attack drove them off. Enemy raids were repulsed."

WILL HOLD PATRIOTIC MEETING

A patriotic meeting wil lbe held by the Elk Hose Company at their parlors on Daisy street Tuesday evening next. An entertaining program is being prepared for the occaion. Every member who can possibly do so is urged to be present. Program and other information will be given in Monday evening's Progress.

AMERICANS FOUGHT LIKE DEVILS IN FIRST BATTLE

WASHINGTON EAGERLY AWAITS OFFICIAL REPORT SHOWING DETAILS AS TO THOSE KILLED OR WOUNDED

VICTORS IN HAND TO HAND FIGHT

Washington, March 2— American troops in France have fought their hardest scrimmage with the Germans —and fought like devils. This was the belief today of army men here anxiously awaiting official reports showing the dead wounded and captured in the Teutonic raid near Toul yesterday. Over the southeast waste No Man's Land the picture of the American boys fighting until their guns ceased firing and then using their fists on the invaders until the sector was free sent a glow of pride through army men here today. Army officials believe the raids were probably to test the morale of the men and to ascertain the strength of the units.

American troops repulsed a strong German attack yesterday morning in the salient north of Toul. There were many American casualties, one of the killed being a captain who was graduated from West Point in 1917.

The German raid was a complete failure. Three German prisoners remain in Amerioan hands. The ground in front of the American trenches was strewn with German dead.

A driving wet snow was falling when the Germans opened fire on the American salient with every weapon at their command. "Seventy-sevens" heavy shells and gas shells fell in a whirlwin in the American trenches for half an hour. At the same time other enemy shells in great numbers were dropping on the American battery positions.

Gas Fails to Terrify Americans

The Germans, evidently thinking the Americans in this section, having had one taste of gas a few days ago would fear it now, let loose great quantities of poisonous gas, but the men put on their masks and only a few were affected by it. So intense was the firing the woods back of the salient were shot to pieces.

At 6 o'clock the barrage fire lifted on the trenches to the right of the salient and Germans, numbering 240 came sweeping forward under the protection of their fire. They came forward apparently intending to make a heavy haul and jumped into what was left of the trenches, but there, instead of the easy time anticipated, found the Americans all ready for battle. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting began.

One American captain rallied his men with rifles and machine guns and went through the American wire entangleemnts into No Man's Land and there waited for the enemy, whom he expected to be driven out by his comrades in the trenches.

Barrage Fire Traps Fleeing Germans

He was right, for soon groups of the enemy started back through the wire entanglements. The Americans poured in a deadly fire, but unfortunately the captain was killed in the fighting. He is the first member of the 1917 class at West Point to be killed.

While the Americans were in front of the wire entanglements and in shell holes still fighting desperately, the American barrage fire began sweeping No-Man's Land, catching many running Prussians who had had enough of American methods. The barrage swept back and forth, making sure of doing all possible damage to the foe.

When the enemy had been driven back out of the positions the bodies of ten German soldiers were found in the American trenches...Two German officers were entangled in the wire and many bodies were in sight. Eight were visible through the snowstorm at one point. The ground was littered with enemy hand grenades, boxes of explosives for destroying dugouts and incendiary bombs, which they had no opportunity to use.

The Germans managed, however, to drop incendiary bombs in two dugouts, which were destroyed by fire, but no Americans were in them. If the Germans captured any prisoners, which is doubtful, there were not more than two or three, possibly from a listening post. Of the missing many probably were buried. Digging for them now is proceeding, and others may be accounted for.

Two German prisoners were wounded and the other taken was unhurt except for a welt on one of his hands where he was struck by a young american soldier when he showed fight after capture.

The American officers obtined much valueable information from the prisoners...One said:

"I did not have a chance to do anything before an American jumped onto me and grabbed me by the throat."

The Germans had been preparing for the raid for three weeks and belonged to the Seventy-eighth Reserve Division of Hanover. The prisoners had ussian coins in their pocketbook and came into the trenches opposite just before the Americans took over this sector.

The Americans displayed the greatest personal courage, bravery and energy throughout the engagement and outfought the surprised enemy from the instant contact was established.

During the bombardment a dump behind the American line was heavily shelled, and there were some casualties.

CAPITALISTS OF GERMANY LOOK INTO FUTURE

French Military Authorities Make Public A Document Showing German Purpose Unchanged

IRON MASTERS WANT WARS

By Henry Wood

With The French Army In The Field, Feb. 15. (By Mail.)—"German big business" is stil lbacking the German government and the German militarists in its policy of annexation and dominatio. German big business is building for future wars. No later than December 1, 1917 the association of German manufacturers of iron and steel from their headquarters in Berlin and Dusseldorff issued a rigorously confidential memorial demanding that the German militarists forcibly annex the French iron station of Briey and Longuy because of "its extensive importance for German national economies and for the conduct of future wars." A cpy of this rigorus confidential memorial has just come into the hands of French military authorities.

It constitutes the most damaging evidence that after three and a half years of warfare in which Germany has sacrificed four millions of her soldiers German big business, the German government, the German militarists and apparently the German people themselves remain absolutely unchanged in their desire and determination for domination and conquest.

BRAVE FAG-AN-BALLAGH FIGHTERS AND MANY OTHERS WHOSE IRISH VALOR IS CLEARING THE WAY IN FRANCE

There are no better fighting men in the British Army than the Irish troops. They have proved this in many a hard-fought battle. The Royal Irish Fusiliers are called Fagan-Ballagh boys, a Gaelic phrase indicating that they "clear the way." There are so many famous Irish regiments that all of them cannot be named here. Among the best are the Munster Fusiliers, the Royal Innoskilling Fusiliers, the Irish Guards, the Dublin Fusiliers, the Royal Irish Regiment, the Royal Irish Rifles and the Connaught Rangers, with whom Brigadier General W. A. White of the British and Canadian Recruitinging Mission saw strenuous service in South Africa.

These splendid soldiers come from both the north and south of Ireland. One of the first heroes of the present war was Private Michael O'Leary, who single-handed attacked and killed an incredible number of the enemy and won the Victoria Cross. O'Leary started his war service as a private in the Connaught Rangers, and he is now a captain. His whole career indicates that he does not know what the word fear means.

Another splendid fighting man who hails from Tipperary arrived in New York the other day to join the recruiting forces of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission. His name is Captain Thomas F. MacMahon, of the Irish Guards, and he won the Military Cross in the Battle of the Somme. In September 1917 the Irish Guards saw very strenuous fighting in the Battle of the Somme. They carried all their objectives in their attack and then found themselves flanked by a nest of machine guns known as The Quadrilateral, and were subjected to a heavy fire from the rear.

"Finally," said Captain MacMahon, "a blooming tank rode over The Quadrilateral, smashing the wire entanglements, and the position was soon taken by the Irish Guards and another regiment. I got hit on the head by a piece of shell and was bowled over, but fortunately I had on one of the tin hats, as we call the steel helmets, and it broke the force of the blow.

There are thousands of Irishmen in the United States who can help win the war by volunteering now for one or another of the hard-hitting Irish regiments and share in "Irish valor," famous the world over.

Judging from the experiences of John F. Short, Federal Food Administrator for Clearfield county, we residents of rural Pennsylvania are not in position to marvel at or point the finger of scorn at the dweller in the city of Brotherly Love for his unpatriotic conduct. Food Dictator Short has found in a survey of the county which he himself admits, is far from being as close and complete as it should and will be, that there are many people in this county equally as unpatriotic and hoggish as the most flagrant violator of the patriotic food regulations to be found anywhere.

If you are paying more than the lawful price notify Food Administrator Short.

One dealer was found who was adding to the price of each sack of flour 15 cents for overhead charges and 10 cents for loss. He is not doing that now. Another selling at $3.75 per sack when called on the carpet recently said he bought his flour away back in November at a price which made $3.75 necessary to net him what the rules allowed. American troops repulsed a strong German attack yesterday morning in the salient north of Toul. There were many American casualties, one of the killed being a captain who was graduated from West Point in 1917.

The German raid was a complete failure. Three German prisoners remain in American hands. The ground in front of the American trenches was strewn with German dead.

A driving wet snow was falling when the Germans opened fire on the American salient with every weapon at their command. "Seventy-sevens" heavy shells and gas shells fell in a whirlwin in the American trenches for half an hour. At the same time other enemy, shells in great numbers were dropping on the American battery positions.

Gas Fails to Terrify Americans

The Germans, evidently thinking the Americans in this section, having had one taste of gas a few days ago would fear it now, let loose great quantities of poisonous gas, but the men put on their masks and only a few were affected by it. So intense was the firing the woods back of the salient were shot to pieces.

At 6 o'clock the barrage fire lifted on the trenches to the right of the salient and Germans, numbering 240 came sweeping forward under the protection of their fire. They came forward apparently intending to make a heavy haul and jumped into what was left of the trenches, but there, instead of the easy time anticipated, found the Americans all ready for battle. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting began.

One American captain rallied his men with rifles and machine guns and went through the American wire entanglemnts into No Man's Land and there waited for the enemy, whom he expected to be driven out by his comrades in the trenches.

Barrage Fire Traps Fleeing Germans

He was right, for soon groups of the enemy started back through the wire entanglements. The Americans poured in a deadly fire, but unfortunately the captain was killed in the fighting. He is the first member of the 1917 class at West Point to be killed.

While the Americans were in front of the wire entanglements and in shell holes still fighting desperately, the American barrage fire began sweeping No-Man's Land, catching many running Prussians who had had enough of American methods. The barrage swept back and forth, making sure of doing all possible damage to the foe.

When the enemy had been driven back out of the positions the bodies of ten German soldiers were found in the American trenches.. Two German officers were entangled in the wire and many bodies were in sight. Eight were visible through the snowstorm at one point. The ground was littered with enemy hand grenades, boxes of explosives for destroying dugouts and incendiary bombs, which they had no opportunity to use.

The Germans managed, however, to drop incendiary bombs in two dugouts, which were destroyed by fire, but no Americans were in them. If the Germans captured any prisoners, which is doubtful, there were not more than two or three, possibly from a listening post. Of the missing many probably were buried. Digging for them now is proceeding, and others may be accounted for.

Two German prisoners were wounded and the other taken was unhurt except for a welt on one of his hands where he was struck by a young American soldier when he showed fight after capture.

The American officers obtined much valueable information from the prisoners... One said:

"I did not have a chance to do anything before an American jumped onto me and grabbed me by the throat."

The Germans had been preparing for the raid for three weeks and belonged to the Seventy-eighth Reserve Division of Hanover. The prisoners had ussian coins in their possession and came into the trenches opposite just before the Americans took over this sector.

The Americans displayed the greatest personal courage, bravery and energy throughout the engagement and outfought the surprised enemy from the instant contact was established.

During the bombardment a village behind the American line was heavily shelled, and there were some casualties.

CAPITALISTS OF GERMANY LOOK INTO FUTURE

French Military Authorities Make Public A Document Showing German Purpose Unchanged

IRON MASTERS WANT WARS

By Henry Wood

With The French Army In The Field, Feb. 15. (By Mail.)—"German big business" is stil lbacking the German government and the German militarists in its policy of annexation and dominatio. German big business is building for future wars. No later than December 1, 1917 the association of German manufacturers of iron and steel from their headquarters in Berlin and Dusseldorff issued a rigorously confidential memorial demanding that the German militarists forcibly annex the French iron station of Briey and Longuy because of "its extensive importance for German national economics and for the conduct of future wars." A copy of this rigorus confidential memorial has just come into the hands of French military authorities

It constitutes the most damaging evidence that after three and a half years of warfare in which Germany has sacrificed four millions of her soldiers German big business, the German government, the German militarists and apparently the German people themselves remain absolutely unchanged in their desire and determination for domination and conquest.

STRIKES AND OUR SOLDIERS

(Chicago Tribune.)

The calling of strikes in any necessary war work is a volley fired into the backs of American soldiers and sailors abroad.

It seems that fact has not come home to a part of American labor. It will certainly come home to the American people, and that soon.

If the administration has been unfortunately slow at evolving a broad labor policy, it has been conciliatory toward organized labor. It has not been ready to establish socialism in this country by hastily taking over all industries in order to satisfy labor that it is not being "exploited," but it has done a great deal toward protecting the wage earner from exploitation and toward improving his conditions. If in spite of this, men in some districts or in some industries have not received increases in proportion to the increase of the cost of living, it has been not from a disposition to oppose or ignore the claims of organized labor but from lack of foresighted planning or from the inherent difficulties of economic conditions.

But what has been the result of this conciliatory attitude? Strikes have been multiplying. Labor leaders, and this includes even Mr. Gompers, are constantly putting first emphasis on the rights and interests of the wage earner rather than upon the duty of serving the country and winning the war.

That labor should not be exploited for the undue profit of employers every one agrees, and there is a most earnest effort to prevent it. But the American people of all classes are asked to make sacrifices today and are making sacrifices. There is no reason in the world why labor should not be required to share these sacrifices if they are necessary. It is true that labor pays some taxes. If is true that wage earners are drafted and thousands have volunteered for military service. This is all to the credit of the men and women concerned. But, at the same time, it in no way excuses the wage earners or their leaders who are impeding urgently necessary war work because they will not abide adjudication of their claims by fair means.

The wage earner who stops necessary war work because his claims for higher pay are not granted without consideration and at once is a profiteer. He is stabbing our soldiers and sailors in the back and endangering the life of the nation.

TEACHER'S HELP WIN WAR

THE PRICE OF POTATOES

Potatoes are selling at $1.25 per bushel in Johnstown now and the Johnstown Tribune in commenting on the drop in price has the following to say.—

"That potatoes will go lower than $1 per bushel is the prediction of a Johnstown man who is in close touch with the food situation. 'The farmers,' said this man, 'made the biggest mistake of their lives by holding their potatoes for higher prices and not bringing them to the city before the potatoes began to come in from other parts of the country. Potatoes will go lower than $1 per bushel within a week or two. Even now they are down to $1 25 per bushel'"

TO THE PATRIOTIC MERCHANTS OF CLEARFIELD

The County Committee on War Savings Stamps earnestly urge the merchants of this town to carry a small supply of thrift stamps on hand for their customers.

These stamps are worth 25 cents each and may be purchased at any of the banks or the post-office. Sixteen stamps and 11 cents additional, if purchased in March, may be exchanged for a War Savings Stamp.

This War Savings Stamp, costing $4.14 will be redeemed by the Government in 1923 for $5.00.

Invest your small earnings with Uncle Sam when he needs the money and get good interest in return.

MEMORIES OF OLD TIME LUMBER CAMP REVIVED BY VISIT TO FRENCH CAMPS

(By United Press)
By J. W. Pegler

With the American Expeditionary Army, France, Jan 11—By Mail—The main hall of the little village hotel smells like some lumber jacks bar racks

Outside the ground is three feet under now Inside, ten of the fifty Sammies crowding the room have stripped off their soggy field boots and their first layer of socks The odors are hanging on the grill around the stove, drying in the heat of the beaming wood fire

"Phew! gimme my gas mask," demands the flip young bugler from Topeka, "Golly gimme a gas mask or something"

They keep on crowding, in—Sammies from fifteen miles around They have come every way, afoot, in side cars, on bikes, in ration wagons by train and by gun-limber with the artillery It is Saturday night when company commanders release a few Sammies in turn for 36 hours 'town leave'

This little jerk water village doesn't offer much in the line of amusement There is a movie that starts at 6 30 and quits at 8 30 There is a good sized, lively Y M C A hut and there are a few cafes where Sammy can learn to sip coffee with his Poilu pal who can't be wooed from his red wine or after-dinner cognac And there's the hotel where Sammy gets a restaurant meal in the grande dining room—the roughly furnished, barn-like room with its oil lamps Flutter French peasant girls go scooting from table to table with plates of roast veal and beans and fried potatoes.

Madame the owner of the hotel, says she feeds as many as 120 American boys on Saturday night She can't understand why they come to her place for supper when the American Army feeds its boys so well The Americans even have white bread, so rare in France that the Poilus call it "cake"

The first shift is coming out from the tables White haired plump Madame scurries over to her place at the door to collect the dinner toll Silver clinks into her country cash-register, a cigar box with the lid knocked off

The second shift edges toward the dining room where Suzanne and Angel and Jean are rushing about, clearing away the traces of the first service

"How's the chewin'?" asks the Albany rifleman

"Pretty good, pretty good," says the engineer boy from Los Angeles Good place to fill up on tan bread for a change"

Close your eyes and shut out the khaki The buzzing voices, the scraping hob nails take you back to the Democratic Convention of Pottowatamie county last spring when the delegates came in through a sleet storm and dried their socks around the stove in the Chamber of Commerce Or you're back in the locker room hearing the coach's final instructions for the county championship tussle with Lincoln High

The second service is finishing Four Sammies are rolling on the old tin-threaded piano into the middle of the floor One of them used to be a rag-time 'song-booster'

Oh baby, how he can torment those keys!

There they go in a chorus of fifty roof raising voices

Twice as nice as Paradise
And they called it Dixie Land

THE SEASON'S DRESS HATS

These hats anticipate the summer, but they are ready for it, and sure that nothing more beautiful will follow them At the top a large watteau hat, with crepe brim and foliage crown, rejoices in a heavy ribbon sash and a little nosegay of tiny flowers. Below an all-black milan has a stately coronet of maline, and at the bottom a little pouf shape of crepe and braid is conscious of a perfect finish in a cluster of small fruit and foliage.

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tisues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, caid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the waether is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generatons to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mstake by having a good kidney flushing at any time.

HUNTING ALIEN TREASURE

FRANCIS P. GARVAN

Francis P. Garavan, who made his name as a prosecutor under District Attorney Jerome of New York County, is now in charge of the search for enemy alien property in the United States. Many millions of dollars are owned by citizens of states at war with the United States. Under the present law this must be invested in United States bonds. He was employed for the work by A. Mitchell Palmer, former Representative in Congress from Pennsylvania, and now federal custodian of enemy alien property.

ADMIRAL DEWEY MADE KAISER'S BROTHER APOLOGIZE

Hong Kong.—In 1898, when the German Emperor sent his brother and a fleet to Hong Kong, Prince Henry gave a dinner to the officers of the foreign warships, which was attended by Admiral Dewey and other Americans.

Following the usual custom, Prince Henry proposed toasts to the nations whose representatives were his guests.

Diplomatic etiquette stipulated that these nations should be mentioned in alphabetical order, the French names being used.

The first toast was proposed to Germany (Allemagne). Next came England (Angleterre), fololwed by Spain (Espagne).

Since the French name for the United States is Etats Unis, the toast for this nation should have followed that to Espagne. Nevertheless, Prince Henry next proposed France.

Few men were so punctilious on diplomatic etiquette as Admiral Dewey, and at this affront he arose, with his officers, and quietly left the dinner table.

Naturally, the incident produced a sensation. Prince Henry sent an officer to apologize, but Admiral Dewey, again the soul of punctiliousness, refused to accept an apology at second hand.

Then Prince Henry made a ceremonial call and apologized. He explained the incident as due to a temporary mental aberration.

LOVELY FROCK OF GEORGETTE

Wherever she elects to wear this charming afternoon dress, its owner may do so with the comfortable feeling that it is a work of art. It will not suffer by any sort of comparison, being both beautiful and up to date. Twice it affirms its allegiance to the tunic; once in a long-over skirt and again in the flounce with deep tucks over the hips and at the back. An applique of satin, outlined with embroidery in a braid pattern challenges our admiration. It is a new idea adapted with cleverness to a beautiful and useful gown.

American association players and umpires would do well to leave their angorras at home this season, for Mickey Devine, the New Haven pepper box, is to be a member of the Louisville Colonels. Mickey belongs to the younger generation of pastiming "kidders," but as a "goat-getter" he has most of the old-timers caught flat-footed.

It is doubtful if any naval station or army camp in the country can boast of athletic talent the equal of that found at the Boston Navy Yard. No matter what the game, whether baseball, football, hockey, basketball, or track and field sports, the First District middies are there.

A CAN FOR TINFOIL SAVINGS

A wholesale grocery house in Duluth, Minn., has devised a special tin can for the saving of tin foil from cigars, chewing gum, candy cigarettes and like merchandise. These cans are placed in cigar stores, churches, schools and other locations by the Red Cross, and the accumulation of tin foil is gathered up and sold. Receipts on the foil are so large in the community where this plan originated, it is said, that the Red Cross chapters there have received several hundred dollars for old tin foil. The Red Cross has also derived revenue from the sale of expired 1917 Minnesota automobile plates which are made of aluminum, and therefore carry a considerable old metal value.

Lesson 9.—First Quarter, March 3, 1918.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Lesson Text, Mark 4:35-41; 5:15-20—Memory Verse, Mark 5:19—Golden Text, Ps. 126:3—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The incident of the storm stilled and the healing of the demoniac are found also in Matthew and Luke, and in the same connection. Their taking Christ even as he was, and his falling asleep in the storm, may imply that he was weary in his body, and possibly in mind also. His labors would give him a weary body, and the unbelief and hatred all about him would tend to give him a weary mind. One of the accusations of the prophet against Israel was, "Ye have wearied the Lord with your words," (Mal. 2.17; see also John 4 6.) When he said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden" (Matt. 11:28) he knew what it meant to have such an experience, for "He was in all points tempted like as we are" and is touched with a feeling of our infirmities (Heb. 4 15). Sometimes the stormy wind is his own, as when he divided the sea by a strong east wind, and sent a great wind to arrest Jonah (Ex. 14 21; Jonah 1:4); and it is written "He commandeth and raiseth the stormy wind" (Ps. 107:25). Sometimes the strong wind is from the devil, as when he caused the death of Job's children by a strong wind (Job 1 19). But he can make the wrath of men or demons to praise him and cause even a stormy wind to fulfill his word (Ps. 148 8). In Rev. 7 1, see the angels controlling the winds. It seems to me that this great storm of wind of our lesson (v. 37) must have been from the devil because the Lord rebuked it (v. 39), and he would not rebuke his own wind. Now I would not give the devil too much credit on the line of knowing things beforehand, nor would I make light of his knowledge but there is a possibility that he knew that if the Lord Jesus crossed over to Gadara he might lose that fine piece of his work in the form of that demon-possessed man whom no chains could bind, and so fierce that no one could pass by that way. In Matt. 8:28, it is recorded that there were two of them. If he had that knowledge we can understand why he sent the storm to sink if possible the boat with the Lord and his disciples. In some respects the devil is an awful fool, and certainly does not know the power of God, and in these days (1917-1918) when the nations are raging, and the people imagining vain things as never before, the Lord has them in derision, and will yet set his king upon his holy hill of Zion (Ps. 2:1-6). Even if the Lord had allowed the devil to destroy that boat, he could easily have walked ashore on the water and enabled his disciples to do the same. I like to watch him sleeping so calmly in the midst of that great storm, and there is no storm in which we may not be calm if we have faith in him (Ps. 27 1-3.) We are too often like the disciples, and afraid that some real evil will befall us, and he often has occasion to say to us, "Why are ye so fearful? How is it that ye have no faith?" "Why are ye troubled, and why do thoughts arise in your hearts?" (v. 40 and Luke 24 38.) How grand to see him quietly awake from sleep and arise and say to wind and sea, Peace, be still, and then to see the great storm give place to a great calm (vs. 7 39). As he slept he was truly human as he stilled the storm he was truly God, so he was and ever is both God and man, and there never can be in our lives or circumstances a storm however great that he cannot with a word, change to a great calm, for he always was, and ever is, the one who maketh the storm a calm (Ps. 107:29). We may still hear him say, "My peace I give unto you," and we can let the peace of God rule in our hearts (John 14 27; Col. 3:15). He alone can still the present strife of nations, and speak peace to them all and it shall yet be seen that he is the one promised to David to sit on his throne, and of whom David said "Is this the manner of man, O Lord God?" (2 Sam. 7:19; compare lesson verse 41.)

Does it not seem as if some of the nations were as demon possessed today as this man, or these men, of Gadara? But our Lord Jesus has the same power as ever, and at the appointed time 'Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence' (Ps. 50 3 6). After Israel shall have seen him coming in his glory and shall have received him according to Isa. 25 9, and have come to her right mind, then shall nations run to her because the Lord God, the holy one of Israel shall have glorified her (Isa. 55 5; compare Mark 5:7). According to Matt. 8:29, the demons said "Art thou come hither to torment us before the time?" for they seemed to know that torment awaits them in due time (Rev. 20 10). This same Jesus is daily delivering those whom Satan has bound with chains of sin, and there is no case too hard for him; and he is saying to all who have such afflicted ones, "Bring them to me," "Have faith and doubt not." The property of the Gadarenes had been touched, and they had sought Jesus to depart from them (5 17) and it is so still when the gospel conflicts with business, and we are moving on to the time when the devil will control all buying and selling (Rev. 13 to 17).

'CHEER PARTIES" FOR RECRUITS SET EXAMPLE OTHER CITIES FOLLOW

"Let us give a stirring send-off to recruits for the British lines in France," said Postmaster W. B. Carlisle of Chicago, as reason for initiating "Cheering parties" on the Government building steps. "Let representative Americans send the thrill to those men that will assure them that America is solidly behind the soldiers, the sailors and the executives who carry on our fight for Freedom," said his appeal.

Forthwith the daily squads of volunteers tramping to the train to the skirl of a Highlander band were given a rousing example of what America's sentiments are, one that has been taken up in other cities where the British Canadian Recruiting Mission has depots. Defense and patriotic organizations heeded the call and arranged for representations daily in the cheering, waving throngs.

MODERN FARMING

Modern farming is reaching into what but a few years past we spoke of as scientific farming. The modern farmer of this age has to deal with principles as well as facts to succeed in competition with his neighbor. Who has already availed himself of the working principles that govern the production of his crops. Much of the credit for this condition must be given to the painstaking practical research work of the colleges, which has demonstrated cause and effect in practical agriculture. An experiment that does not demonstrate the principles that govern the results is not complete and should not be accepted as reliable evidence on which to establish farm practice. You cannot make a "silk purse out of a sow's ear," no matter how much it may be made to resemble it, and we cannot long keep up the deception.

TO PRODUCE BETTER CATTLE

Improvement Made by Breeders Never More Rapid Than at Present—Poor Cows Not Wanted.

The tendency to produce better cattle has gained the ascendency in the minds and efforts of cattle breeders and improvement has never been more rapid than now. A very poor grade of heifers or cows would find a very slow sale under the present influence of quality and growth.

The farmer who has had the rough feed believes this kind of an investment cannot help but result profitably. It is this belief that is going to be the salvation of the meat problem of the country, in the matter of general meat supply. The big, growthy animal may consume a little more grass and rough feed, but its pounds of growth and gain will pay the bill and leave a balance in its favor when the feed yard period has passed.

WHAT CATTLE WORKERS DID

Field Agents Gave Advice to 5,300 Farmers, Addressed Meetings and Gave Other Aid.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Field agents in beef cattle extension work according to the annual report of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture in the last fiscal year gave specific advice to 5300 farmers addressed 539 meetings with attendance of 53786 people, were instrumental in placing with farmers 2991 breeding cattle besides 960 hogs, a number of breeding mares and 1432 feeder cattle. Direct assistance was given in building 113 silos and 25 additional live stock organizations were formed. Demonstrations given included 58 in baby beef, 150 in steer feeding, 42 in cattle pasturing and over 1,000 in hog raising.

MUSKRAT FOR FOOD

The enormous numbers of carcasses of muskrats which are thrown away after the pelts have been removed is a waste of food. The muskrat is an animal of most cleanly habits, is most discriminating in choice of food, and is a very acceptable addition to the table.

The writer can speak from personal experience to the effect that when cooked as rabbits are cooked the meat of the muskrat is extremely palatable. As a matter of fact, muskrats are sold for food in some of the eastern markets and some hunting clubs in the East have animal banquets in which the muskrat forms the chief dish. In some places this animal is known as the "marsh rabbit."

It is to be hoped that this means of reducing the cost of living, although slight, may not be overlooked.—F. L. Washburn, Minnesota Experiment Station.

RAISING MORE BEEF CATTLE

Thousands of New Breeding Herds Being Established All Over Country With Better Stock.

It is a fact that there are thousands of new breeding herds being established all over the country. It is also a fact that farmers and small ranchmen are using more care in selecting the heifers and cows for these new herds and the additions they are making to the herds they already have on their farms. Better quality has been preached from every hilltop in the land.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

Don't eat bite of breakfast until you drink glass of hot water

Happy, bright alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks" "rundowns" "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throngh of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waster, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged ot obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin odes not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

ENOUGH FLOUR IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY TO LAST US UNTIL LATE IN SUMMER

UNEQUALLY DISTRIBUTED HOWEVER AND FOOD ADMINISTRATOR SHORT IS TAKING QUANTITIES WHEREVER FOUND

Price of $3.45 Per Sack Is Set As Maximum At Which Wheat Flour May Be Sold

HOGGISH HOARDING IS FOUND

The Federal Food Administration is performing a herculean task these days and the far reaching effect of the efforts of this band of patriotic citizens is becoming apparent on every hand. The Philadelphia papers carried a story the other day to the effect that a partial food survey of that city disclosed the fact that seven hundred families were hoarding more than 140,000 pounds of flour.

That story made interesting reading for the average Cearfield county patriot, who marveled greatly at the moral shortcomings of the city dweller who would so flagrantly violate the orders of the food administrator and unpatriotically store up what this nation and her allies at war so sadly needed.

Judging from the experiences of John F. Short, Federal Food Administrator for Clearfield county, we residents of rural Pennsylvania are not in position to marvel at or point the finger of scorn at the dweller in the city of Brotherly Love for his unpatriotic conduct. Food Dictator Short has found in a survey of the county which he himself admits, is far from being as close and complete as it should and will be, that there are many people in this county equally as unpatriotic and hoggish as the most flagrant violator of the patriotic food regulations to be found anywhere.

Mr. Short's survey has disclosed the fact that there is enough flour right here in Cearfied county today to amply supply the needs of our people right through until August 1st without the addition of another pound of flour before that time.

This flour like that in almost every other section of the state and country generally is not properly or evenly distributed, however, but it is the duty of the Food Administration to see that it is so located or distributed and that is what Mr. Short says he proposes to do regardless of who has the flour now or where it is located.

When the flour regulations were first promulgated the people were requested to make a return to the County Food Administratbr a report as to the amount of flour they had on hand, the orders being that no person or family should be allowed to hold any amount in excess of enough to supply their needs for thirty days. Since that time Mr. Short has received some two hundred and fifty reports. In all these cases the name of the person with the amount of flour on hand was tabulated for future reference. That is, a record was made for the purpose of requisitioning the excess at any time the need may arise, the holder thereof of course to be paid for any flour so requisitioned.

In addition to the more than two hundred voluntary reports made the Food Administrator was also apprised of many other stores of flour, the owners of which took a chance on being compelled to pay a heavy fine and having their flour confiscated by refusing or failing to report it. A close canvass or survey will soon be made when the requirements demand and then all surplus stocks will be seized and fines imposed.

The Food administration has been carefully watching the price of flour throughout the county and has compelled many profiteers to hand back or cut down their unlawful excess profits.

For instance some dealers were found selling flour at $3.75, $3.90 and even $4.25 per sack, when the flour cost them $11 per barrel and even less, and this, too, when the food rules prescribe a profit of 70 cents per barrel to the middleman or wholesaler and not more than $1.20 to the retailer for delivery.

In several cases the Food Administrator has been notified by persons that they were obliged to pay $3.75 per sack for flour and on receipt of such complaints the retailer was called up and notified to make his flour prices $3.20 on the flour or $3.45 delivered, to avoid the penalty for profiteering.. If you are paying more than the lawful price notify Food Administrator Short.

One dealer was found who was adding to the price of each sack of flour 15 cents for overhead charges and 10 cents for loss. He is not doing that now. Another selling at $3.75 per sack when called on the carpet recently said he bought his flour away back in November at a price which made $3.75 necessary to net him what the rules allowed. The Food Dictator flashed a copy of the bill for that particular November shipment which showed the flour was purchased for $10.60 per barrel, freight and war tax off.

Angelo Carmello, who runs a store just across the Centre county line at Philipsburg has been paying no attention to the food rules and as he was out of Clearfield county could not be reached by the local Food Administrator and was causing a great deal of trouble.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock Mr. Short was notified that several Clearfield Co. people had purchased a large quantity of flour from Carmello and had it stored in their homes just across the line in Clearfield county. Constable T. B. Reilley was sent to Philipsburg on the 3:45 Pennsylvania train with orders to seize the flour. When he arrived in Philipsburg Officer Reilley secured the assistance of Chief of Police Sankey and two state policemen and going to the places complained of with an auto truck they secured in three houses, all occupied by foreign families, just forty-four sacks of flour. In each case enough was left to comply with the food rules.

When the officers with their truck load of booty were coming back into Philipsburg they met Carmello with five sacks of flour in his wagon consigned to one man and they were also requisitioned and the whole lot stored in Lauderbach-Zerby's ware room for future disposition.

Last night reports were received that a number of people living down in Morris and Cooper townships had excess amounts of flour and sugar stored under brush, hay and straw about their homes and Officer Reilley, representing the Food Administrator, is down that way today attempting to round some of it up.

Food Administrator Short now has three car loads of flour on the cars ready to be shipped where State Administrator Heinz directs, this flour not being needed at this time to supply the wants of Clearfield county people.

The majority of Clearfield county people are doing their duty in the matter of food conservation and the other fellow is going to be made to do his bit. Such methods the country over will do much toward helping win the war.

The number of Clearfield boys in Uncle Sam's service was increased three today when John Reed, Gust Conaway and Daniel Pancoast enlisted through the local Exemption Board and left on the 3:45 Pennsylvania train for Camp Greene at Charlotte, N. C. They will join the regular infantry.

BATTLE WITH SUB REPORTED IN THIS DELAYED REPORT

Washington, March 2 – Battling a German submarine for 2 1-2 hours the American steamship Nyanzo's armed guard sank its opponent according to a report of the chief gunner's mate Robert A. Throves made public today. The attack occurred January 18. Hampered by shrapnel from two submarines the Nyanzo manouvered skillfully while her armed guard cooly and carefully fired at the submarines They fired four shells and evidently sank them.

Strangler Ed Lewis must have been side-tracked in the wrestling championship merry-go-round. It was only a short time ago that the Kentucky grappler held the spotlight in the mat game, but now Joe Stecher, Earl Caddock and Biscuits Zbyszko are monopolizing the stage.

As Percy Houghton, Leo Leary and Reggie Brown, the Harvard football experts, are slated to return to the job at Cambridge this year, it looks as if the Crimson gridders intend to play real football instead of the informal variety.

"Hoverizing" seems to have hit the boxing game. Tommy Robson has canned his manager and is now looking after his own business affairs.

oPetrograd, March 1—Night—Petrograd is facing her "battle of the Marne." The Germans are within a few miles of Luga (100 miles southwest of Petrograd on the Riga-Petrograd railway) and which is about five hours from Petrograd. The enemy lies as in a fan formation—Pskoff the stick and Dno and Arnieff the wings. Balk is the chief food base and Pskoff the base of the advance operations. No movement of the Germans toward Luga was reported during the night, however.

"Arno Dosch-Sleurot of the New York World and I are the only American correspondents remaining in the city. Most of the British newspaper men have gone. Sisson and a small party remain The railroad exits from the city are closed. We are prepared for a quick get-away however. The Soviet Commissary has announced it will remain until the last moment. Only the most important valuables and gold are being evacuated. In the event of German occupation the government will remove to Moscow."

March 1—Evening — Petrograd is eager for action. A special commission is clearing out the useless bourgeoise except the able bodies trench diggers; ousting the old, young and invalids, unwillgn soldiers and suspected war prisoners.

March 1—Night—Germany refuses to cease hostilities by Monday the Russian peace delegates at Brest Litovsk declared in a proclamation tonight We order nothing to be given up without fighting the proclamation declared. Our last work is that we must make n effort to drive the Germans back as far as possible to the west.

JAP DIPLOMATS ARE DISCUSSING THE SIBERIAN QUESTION

Tokio, March 2.—An important conference dealing on the situation in Siberia was under way in the village of Hayana today. Foreign Minister Motono, Naval Minister Kato and Admiral Toga were in conference with the Emperor. The decision of the allied diplomats to withdraw from Petrograd is tantamount to a severance of diplomatic relations, it was generally regarded in official circles today. Motono told the Diet that Japan is negotiating with the allies for a new policy toward Russia.

THE ENTIRE BRITISH FRONT VISITED BY GERMAN RAIDERS

London March 2.—Extensive raiding operations over probably the whole of the British West front at night were reported by Field Marshal Haig today. At some ponts the Germans gained temporarily.

"British forces conducted successful raids in the Armentieres sector and in the neighborhood of Arleu," Haig said. "New enemy raiding parties entered our lines and took a few of our men who are missing. A few enemy soldiers entered the trenches in the neighborhood of Hargicourt but all were driven off. Stray soldiers entered Portuegese trenches on a wide front from Neuve Chapelle. A counter attack drove them off. Enemy raids were repulsed."

A patriotic meeting wil lbe held by the Elk Hose Company at their parlors on Daisy street Tuesday evening next. An entertaining program is being prepared for the occaion. Every member who can possibly do so is urged to be present. Program and other information will be given in Monday evening's Progress.

AMERICANS FOUGHT LIKE DEVILS IN FIRST BATTLE

WASHINGTON EAGERLY AWAITS OFFICIAL REPORT SHOWING DETAILS AS TO THOSE KILLED OR WOUNDED

VICTORS IN HAND TO HAND FIGHT

Washington, March 2— American troops in France have fought their hardest scrimmage with the Germans —and fought like devils. This was the belief today of army men here anxiously awaiting official reports showing the dead wounded and captured in the Teutonic raid near Toul yesterday. Over the southeast waste No Man's Land the picture of the American boys fighting until their guns ceased firing and then using their fists on the invaders until the sector was free sent a glow of pride through army men here today. Army officials believe the raids were probably to test the morale of the men and to ascertain the strength of the units.

American troops repulsed a strong German attack yesterday morning in the salient north of Toul. There were many American casualties, one of the killed being a captain who was graduated from West Point in 1917.

The German raid was a complete failure. Three German prisoners remain in American hands. The ground in front of the American trenches was strewn with German dead.

A driving wet snow was falling when the Germans opened fire on the American salient with every weapon at their command. "Seventy-sevens" heavy shells and gas shells fell in a whirlwin in the American trenches for half an hour. At the same time other enemy shells in great numbers were dropping on the American battery positions.

Gas Fails to Terrify Americans

The Germans, evidently thinking the Americans in this section, having had one taste of gas a few days ago would fear it now, let loose great quantities of poisonous gas, but the men put on their masks and only a few were affected by it. So intense was the firing the woods back of the salient were shot to pieces.

At 6 o'clock the barrage fire lifted on the trenches to the right of the salient and Germans, numbering 240 came sweeping forward under the protection of their fire. They came forward apparently intending to make a heavy haul and jumped into what was left of the trenches, but there, instead of the easy time anticipated, found the Americans all ready for battle. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting began.

One American captain rallied his men with rifles and machine guns and went through the American wire entangleemnts into No Man's Land and there waited for the enemy, whom he expected to be driven out by his comrades in the trenches.

Barrage Fire Traps Fleeing Germans

He was right, for soon groups of the enemy started back through the wire entanglements. The Americans poured in a deadly fire, but unfortunately the captain was killed in the fighting. He is the first member of the 1917 class at West Point to be killed.

While the Americans were in front of the wire entanglements and in shell holes still fighting desperately, the American barrage fire began sweeping No-Man's Land, catching many running Prussians who had had enough of American methods. The barrage swept back and forth, making sure of doing all possible damage to the foe.

When the enemy had been driven back out of the positions the bodies of ten German soldiers were found in the American trenches...Two German officers were entangled in the wire and many bodies were in sight. Eight were visible through the snowstorm at one point. The ground was littered with enemy hand grenades, boxes of explosives for destroying dugouts and incendiary bombs, which they had no opportunity to use.

The Germans managed, however, to drop incendiary bombs in two dugouts, which were destroyed by fire, but no Americans were in them. If the Germans captured any prisoners, which is doubtful, there were not more than two or three, possibly from a listening post. Of the missing many probably were buried. Digging for them now is proceeding, and others may be accounted for.

Two German prisoners were wounded and the other taken was unhurt except for a welt on one of his hands where he was struck by a young American soldier when he showed fight after capture.

The American officers obtined much valueable information from the prisoners...One said:

"I did not have a chance to do anything before an American jumped onto me and grabbed me by the throat."

The Germans had been preparing for the raid for three weeks and belonged to the Seventy-eighth Reserve Division of Hanover. The prisoners had russian coins in their pocketbooks and came into the trenches opposite just before the Americans took over this sector.

The Americans displayed the greatest personal courage, bravery and energy throughout the engagement and outfought the surprised enemy from the instant contact was established.

During the bombardment a dump behind the American line was heavily shelled, and there were some casualties.

IRON MASTERS WANT WARS

With The French Army In The Field, Feb. 15. (By Mail.)—"German big business" is stil lbacking the German government and the German militarists in its policy of annexation and dominatio. German big business is building for future wars. No later than December 1, 1917 the association of German manufacturers of iron and steel from their headquarters in Berlin and Dusseldorff issued a rigorously confidential memorial demanding that the German militarists forcibly annex the French iron station of Briey and Longuy because of "its extensive importance for German national economies and for the conduct of future wars." A cpy of this rigorus confidential memorial has just come into the hands of French military authorities.

It constitutes the most damaging evidence that after three and a half years of warfare in which Germany has sacrificed four millions of her soldiers German big business, the German government, the German militarists and apparently the German people themselves remain absolutely unchanged in their desire and determination for domination and conquest.

BRAVE FAG-AN-BALLAGH FIGHTERS AND MANY OTHERS WHOSE IRISH VALOR IS CLEARING THE WAY IN FRANCE

There are no better fighting men in the British Army than the Irish troops. They have proved this in many a hard-fought battle. The Royal Irish Fusiliers are called Fagan-Ballagh boys, a Gaelic phrase indicating that they "clear the way." There are so many famous Irish regiments that all of them cannot be named here. Among the best are the Munster Fusiliers, the Royal Innoskilling Fusiliers, the Irish Guards, the Dublin Fusiliers, the Royal Irish Regiment, the Royal Irish Rifles and the Connaught Rangers, with whom Brigadier General W. A. White of the British and Canadian Recruitinging Mission saw strenuous service in South Africa.

These splendid soldiers come from both the north and south of Ireland. One of the first heroes of the present war was Private Michael O'Leary, who single-handed attacked and killed an incredible number of the enemy and won the Victoria Cross. O'Leary started his war service as a private in the Connaught Rangers, and he is now a captain. His whole career indicates that he does not know what the word fear means.

Another splendid fighting man who hails from Tipperary arrived in New York the other day to join the recruiting forces of the British and Canadian Recruiting Mission. His name is Captain Thomas F. MacMahon, of the Irish Guards, and he won the Military Cross in the Battle of the Somme. In September 1917 the Irish Guards saw very strenuous fighting in the Battle of the Somme. They carried all their objectives in their attack and then found themselves flanked by a nest of machine guns known as The Quadrilateral, and were subjected to a heavy fire from the rear.

"Finally," said Captain MacMahon, "a blooming tank rode over The Quadrilateral, smashing the wire entanglements, and the position was soon taken by the Irish Guards and another regiment. I got hit on the head by a piece of shell and was bowled over, but fortunately I had on one of the tin hats, as we call the steel helmets, and it broke the force of the blow.

There are thousands of Irishmen in the United States who can help win the war by volunteering now for one or another of the hard-hitting Irish regiments and share in "Irish valor," famous the world over.

ENOUGH FLOUR IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY TO LAST US UNTIL LATE IN SUMMER

UNEQUALLY DISTRIBUTED HOWEVER AND FOOD ADMINISTRATOR SHORT IS TAKING QUANTITIES WHEREVER FOUND

Price of$3.45 Per Sack Is Set As Maximum At Which Wheat Flour May Be Sold

HOGGISH HOARDING IS FOUND

The Federal Food Administration is performing a herculean task these days and the far reaching effect of the efforts of this band of patriotic citizens is becoming apparent on every hand. The Philadelphia papers carried a story the other day to the effect that a partial food survey of that city disclosed the fact that seven hundred families were hoarding more than 140,000 pounds of flour.

That story made interesting reading for the average Cearfield county patriot, who marveled greatly at the moral shortcomings of the city dweller who would so flagrantly violate the orders of the food administrator and unpatriotically store up what this nation and her allies at war so sadly needed.

Judging from the experiences of John F. Short, Federal Food Administrator for Clearfield county, we residents of rural Pennsylvania are not in position to marvel at or point the finger of scorn at the dweller in the city of Brotherly Love for his unpatriotic conduct. Food Dictator Short has found in a survey of the county which he himself admits, is far from being as close and complete as it should and will be, that there are many people in this county equally as unpatriotic and hoggish as the most flagrant violator of the patriotic food regulations to be found anywhere.

Mr. Short's survey has disclosed the fact that there is enough flour right here in Cearfied county today to amply supply the needs of our people right through until August 1st without the addition of another pound of flour before that time.

This flour like that in almost every other section of the state and country generally is not properly or evenly distributed, however, but it is the duty of the Food Administration to see that it is so located or distributed and that is what Mr. Short says he proposes to do regardless of who has the flour now or where it is located.

When the flour regulations were first promulgated the people were requested to make a return to the County Food Administrator a report as to the amount of flour they had on hand, the orders being that no person or family should be allowed to hold any amount in excess of enough to supply their needs for thirty days. Since that time Mr. Short has received some two hundred and fifty reports. In all these cases the name of the person with the amount of flour on hand was tabulated for future reference. That is, a record was made for the purpose of requisitioning the excess at any time the need may arise, the holder thereof of course to be paid for any flour so requisitioned.

In addition to the more than two hundred voluntary reports made the Food Administrator was also apprised of many other stores of flour, the owners of which took a chance on being compelled to pay a heavy fine and having their flour confiscated by refusing or failing to report it. A close canvass or survey will soon be made when the requirements demand and then all surplus stocks will be seized and fines imposed.

The Food administration has been carefully watching the price of flour throughout the county and has compelled many profiteers to hand back or cut down their unlawful excess profits.

For instance some dealers were found selling flour at $3.75, $3.90 and even $4.25 per sack, when the flour cost them $11 per barrel and even less, and this, too, when the food rules prescribe a profit of 70 cents per barrel to the middleman or wholesaler and not more than $1.20 to the retailer for delivery.

In several cases the Food Administrator has been notified by persons that they were obliged to pay $3.75 per sack for flour and on receipt of such complaints the retailer was called up and notified to make his flour prices $3.20 on the flour or $3.45 delivered, to avoid the penalty for profiteering.. If you are paying more than the lawful price notify Food Administrator Short.

One dealer was found who was adding to the price of each sack of flour 15 cents for overhead charges and 10 cents for loss. He is not doing that now. Another selling at $3.75 per sack when called on the carpet recently said he bought his flour away back in November at a price which made $3.75 necessary to net him what the rules allowed. The Food Dictator flashed a copy of the bill for that particular November shipment which showed the flour was purchased for $10.60 per barrel, freight and war tax off.

Angelo Carmello, who runs a store just across the Centre county line at Philipsburg has been paying no attention to the food rules and as he was out of Clearfield county could not be reached by the local Food Administrator and was causing a great deal of trouble.

Yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock Mr. Short was notified that several Clearfield Co. people had purchased a large quantity of flour from Carmello and had it stored in their homes just across the line in Clearfield county. Constable T. B. Reilley was sent to Philipsburg on the 3:45 Pennsylvania train with orders to seize the flour. When he arrived in Philipsburg Officer Reilley secured the assistance of Chief of Police Sankey and two state policemen and going to the places complained of with an auto truck they secured in three houses, all occupied by foreign families, just forty-four sacks of flour. In each case enough was left to comply with the food rules.

When the officers with their truck load of booty were coming back into Philipsburg they met Carmello with five sacks of flour in his wagon consigned to one man and they were also requisitioned and the whole lot stored in Lauderbach-Zerby's ware room for future disposition.

Last night reports were received that a number of people living down in Morris and Cooper townships had excess amounts of flour and sugar stored under brush, hay and straw about their homes and Officer Reilley, representing the Food Administrator, is down that way today attempting to round some of it up.

Food Administrator Short now has three car loads of flour on the cars ready to be shipped where State Administrator Heinz directs, this flour not being needed at this time to supply the wants of Clearfield county people.

The majority of Clearfield county people are doing their duty in the matter of food conservation and the other fellow is going to be made to do his bit. Such methods the country over will do much toward helping win the war.

ENLISTED IN REGULAR ARMY

The following Clearfield and Centre county young men enlisted in the regular army through the DuBois recruiting office this week:

John Somerville, Munson; Walter C Mark, Philipsburg; Thomas Johnson, Philipsburg; Charles H. Williams, Philipsburg; George Davis, Munson, Wendell B. Ramsey, Philipsburg; Ellwood O'Dell, Munson; John A. Erickson, Munson; Albert Simmons, Munson, Frank Conklin, Morrisdale; Russell W. Harmon, Helvetia

Enoch H Ball, DuBois; George H. Sutton, Mahaffey; Court E. Kitchen, Mahaffey, Orrin C. Elder, Mahaffey.

Bryan Downey of Chicago and Joe Eagan, the Boston battler, will clash again at Columbus, March 11 It will be the third time they have met in the ring

STRIKES AND OUR SOLDIERS

(Chicago Tribune.)

The calling of strikes in any necessary war work is a volley fired into the backs of American soldiers and sailors abroad.

It seems that fact has not come home to a part of American labor. It will certainly come home to the American people, and that soon.

If the administration has been unfortunately slow at evolving a broad labor policy, it has been conciliatory toward organized labor. It has not been ready to establish socialism in this country by hastily taking over all industries in order to satisfy labor that it is not being "exploited," but it has done a great deal toward protecting the wage earner from exploitation and toward improving his conditions. If in spite of this, men in some districts or in some industries have not received increases in proportion to the increase of the cost of living, it has been not from a disposition to oppose or ignore the claims of organized labor but from lack of foresighted planning or from the inherent difficulties of economic conditions.

But what has been the result of this conciliatory attitude? Strikes have been multiplying. Labor leaders, and this includes even Mr. Gompers, are constantly putting first emphasis on the rights and interests of the wage earner rather than upon the duty of serving the country and winning the war.

That labor should not be exploited for the undue profit of employers every one agrees, and there is a most earnest effort to prevent it. But the American people of all classes are asked to make sacrifices today and are making sacrifices. There is no reason in the world why labor should not be required to share these sacrifices if they are necessary. It is true that labor pays some taxes. If is true that wage earners are drafted and thousands have volunteered for military service. This is all to the credit of the men and women concerned. But, at the same time, it in no way excuses the wage earners or their leaders who are impeding urgently necessary war work because they will not abide adjudication of their claims by fair means.

The wage earner who stops necessary war work because his claims for higher pay are not granted without consideration and at once is a profiteer. He is stabbing our soldiers and sailors in the back and endangering the life of the nation.

TEACHER'S HELP WIN WAR

Washington, March 1— Thousands of school teachers are laying aside rule and pen to take up the sword for Uncle Sam.

A service flag unfurled at the Washington office of the National Education Association today contains 756 stars, representing the number of its membership now in the army and navy.

School ma'ms in great numbers have gone forth from the "little red schoolhouse" to engage in war work

Phil Franchini, the crack bantam amateur of New York, has joined Dan McKettrick's table of boxers

THE PRICE OF POTATOES

Potatoes are selling at $1.25 per bushel in Johnstown now and the Johnstown Tribune in commenting on the drop in price has the following to say.—

"That potatoes will go lower than $1 per bushel is the prediction of a Johnstown man who is in close touch with the food situation. 'The farmers,' said this man, 'made the biggest mistake of their lives by holding their potatoes for higher prices and not bringing them to the city before the potatoes began to come in from other parts of the country. Potatoes will go lower than $1 per bushel within a week or two. Even now they are down to $1 25 per bushel'"

TO THE PATRIOTIC MERCHANTS OF CLEARFIELD

The County Committee on War Savings Stamps earnestly urge the merchants of this town to carry a small supply of thrift stamps on hand for their customers.

These stamps are worth 25 cents each and may be purchased at any of the banks or the post-office. Sixteen stamps and 11 cents additional, if purchased in March, may be exchanged for a War Savings Stamp.

This War Savings Stamp, costing $4.14 will be redeemed by the Government in 1923 for $5.00.

Invest your small earnings with Uncle Sam when he needs the money and get good interest in return.

Call J. F. Weaver on either phone at the Goshen Coal Co. Office and posters or literature on the subject will be delivered to your store.

MEMORIES OF OLD TIME LUMBER CAMP REVIVED BY VISIT TO FRENCH CAMPS

(By United Press)
By J. W. Pegler

With the American Expeditionary Army, France, Jan 11—By Mail—The main hall of the little village hotel smells like some lumber jacks bar racks

Outside the ground is three feet under now Inside, ten of the fifty Sammies crowding the room have stripped off their soggy field boots and their first layer of socks The odors are hanging on the grill around the stove, drying in the heat of the beaming wood fire

"Phew! gimme my gas mask," demands the flip young bugler from Topeka, "Golly gimme a gas mask or something"

They keep on crowding in—Sammies from fifteen miles around They have come every way, afoot, in side cars, on bikes, in ration wagons by train and by gun-limber with the artillery It is Saturday night when company commanders release a few Sammies in turn for 36 hours 'town leave'

This little jerk water village doesn't offer much in the line of amusement There is a movie that starts at 6 30 and quits at 8 30 There is a good sized, lively Y M C A hut and there are a few cafes where Sammy can learn to sip coffee with his Poilu pal who can't be wooed from his red wine or after-dinner cognac And there's the hotel where Sammy gets a restaurant meal in the grande dining room—the roughly furnished, barn-like room with its oil lamps Flutter French peasant girls go scooting from table to table with plates of roast veal and beans and fried potatoes.

Madame the owner of the hotel, says she feeds as many as 120 American boys on Saturday night She can't understand why they come to her place for supper when the American Army feeds its boys so well The Americans even have white bread, so rare in France that the Poilus call it "cake"

The first shift is coming out from the tables White haired plump Madame scurries over to her place at the door to collect the dinner toll Silver clinks into her country cash-register, a cigar box with the lid knocked off

The second shift edges toward the dining room where Suzanne and Angel and Jean are rushing about, clearing away the traces of the first service

"How's the chewin'?" asks the Albany rifleman

"Pretty good, pretty good," says the engineer boy from Los Angeles Good place to fill up on tan bread for a change"

Close your eyes and shut out the khaki The buzzing voices, the scraping hob nails take you back to the Democratic Convention of Pottowatamie county last spring when the delegates came in through a sleet storm and dried their socks around the stove in the Chamber of Commerce Or you're back in the locker room hearing the coach's final instructions for the county championship tussle with Lincoln High

The second service is finishing Four Sammies are rolling on the old tin-threaded piano into the middle of the floor One of them used to be a rag-time 'song-booster'

Oh baby, how he can torment those keys!

There they go in a chorus of fifty roof raising voices

Twice as nice as Paradise
And they called it Dixie Land

THE SEASON'S DRESS HATS

These hats anticipate the summer, but they are ready for it, and sure that nothing more beautiful will follow them At the top a large watteau hat, with crepe brim and foliage crown, rejoices in a heavy ribbon sash and a little nosegay of tiny flowers. Below an all-black milan has a stately coronet of maline, and at the bottom a little pouf shape of crepe and braid is conscious of a perfect finish in a cluster of small fruit and foliage.

Linoleum

In A Closing Out Sale

We have decided to clear out our stock of linoleums. We have never handled the cheaper sorts which makes the price that we have placed on the entire lot all the more remarkable.

We have an unusually pretty assortment of colors and a timelier sale than this has never been brought to your attention. Coming in the early spring when you are naturally thinking of new floor coverings you'll be glad to know of our intention to close out this department

The linoleums are made by Cook and other of the famous linoleum makers The stocks consist of pretty checks in light and dark colors. There is only one width—72 inches.

We have placed the exceptionally low price on all patterns of

$1.65 the linear yard

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tisues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, caid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the waether is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generatons to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mstake by having a good kidney flushing at any time.

MOTHERS, DO THIS—

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt, sure relief. It does not blister.

As first aid and a certain remedy, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar in the house, ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

Mike Novak and Joseph Comitz miners employed at Moshanonn No. 10 Colliery were inured by a fall of rock while at work on Wednesday. Both of these men live at Milligans Hollow.

The Pageant by the pupils of the High School for the benefit of the Jr. Red Cross on Thursday was a splendid exhibition of well drilled children and was greeted with a capacity house. It would require to much space to attempt to name the various performer all having their parts well handled. The teachers are under obligations to the Misses Gill and W. T. Bair of Philipsburg for material furnished to assist in the costumes of the children. The entertainme was repeated Friday night.

HUNTING ALIEN TREASURE

FRANCIS P. GARVAN

Francis P. Garavan, who made his name as a prosecutor under District Attorney Jerome of New York County, is now in charge of the search for enemy alien property in the United States. Many millions of dollars are owned by citizens of states at war with the United States. Under the present law this must be invested in United States bonds. He was employed for the work by A. Mitchell Palmer, former Representative in Congress from Pennsylvania, and now federal custodian of enemy alien property.

ADMIRAL DEWEY MADE KAISER'S BROTHER APOLOGIZE

Hong Kong.—In 1898, when the German Emperor sent his brother and a fleet to Hong Kong, Prince Henry gave a dinner to the officers of the foreign warships, which was attended by Admiral Dewey and other Americans.

Following the usual custom, Prince Henry proposed toasts to the nations whose representatives were his guests.

Diplomatic etiquette stipulated that these nations should be mentioned in alphabetical order, the French names being used.

The first toast was proposed to Germany (Allemagne). Next came England (Angleterre), fololwed by Spain (Espagne).

Since the French name for the United States is Etats Unis, the toast for this nation should have followed that to Espagne. Nevertheless, Prince Henry next proposed France.

Few men were so punctilious on diplomatic etiquette as Admiral Dewey, and at this affront he arose, with his officers, and quietly left the dinner table.

Naturally, the incident produced a sensation. Prince Henry sent an officer to apologize, but Admiral Dewey, again the soul of punctiliousness, refused to accept an apology at second hand.

Then Prince Henry made a ceremonial call and apologized. He explained the incident as due to a temporary mental aberration.

LOVELY FROCK OF GEORGETTE

Wherever she elects to wear this charming afternoon dress, its owner may do so with the comfortable feeling that it is a work of art. It will not suffer by any sort of comparison, being both beautiful and up to date. Twice it affirms its allegiance to the tunic; once in a long-over skirt and again in the flounce with deep tucks over the hips and at the back. An applique of satin, outlined with embroidery in a braid pattern challenges our admiration. It is a new idea adapted with cleverness to a beautiful and useful gown.

American association players and umpires would do well to leave their angorras at home this season, for Mickey Devine, the New Haven pepper box, is to be a member of the Louisville Colonels. Mickey belongs to the younger generation of pastiming "kidders," but as a "goat-getter" he has most of the old-timers caught flat-footed.

It is doubtful if any naval station or army camp in the country can boast of athletic talent the equal of that found at the Boston Navy Yard. No matter what the game, whether baseball, football, hockey, basketball, or track and field sports, the First District middies are there.

A CAN FOR TINFOIL SAVINGS

A wholesale grocery house in Duluth, Minn., has devised a special tin can for the saving of tin foil from cigars, chewing gum, candy cigarettes and like merchandise. These cans are placed in cigar stores, churches, schools and other locations by the Red Cross, and the accumulation of tin foil is gathered up and sold. Receipts on the foil are so large in the community where this plan originated, it is said, that the Red Cross chapters there have received several hundred dollars for old tin foil. The Red Cross has also derived revenue from the sale of expired 1917 Minnesota automobile plates which are made of aluminum, and therefore carry a considerable old metal value.

Lesson 9.—First Quarter, March 3, 1918.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Lesson Text, Mark 4:35-41; 5:15-20—Memory Verse, Mark 5:19—Golden Text, Ps. 126:3—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The incident of the storm stilled and the healing of the demoniac are found also in Matthew and Luke, and in the same connection. Their taking Christ even as he was, and his falling asleep in the storm, may imply that he was weary in his body, and possibly in mind also. His labors would give him a weary body, and the unbelief and hatred all about him would tend to give him a weary mind. One of the accusations of the prophet against Israel was, "Ye have wearied the Lord with your words," (Mal. 2.17; see also John 4 6.) When he said, "Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden" (Matt. 11:28) he knew what it meant to have such an experience, for "He was in all points tempted like as we are" and is touched with a feeling of our infirmities (Heb. 4 15). Sometimes the stormy wind is his own, as when he divided the sea by a strong east wind, and sent a great wind to arrest Jonah (Ex. 14 21; Jonah 1:4); and it is written "He commandeth and raiseth the stormy wind" (Ps. 107:25). Sometimes the strong wind is from the devil, as when he caused the death of Job's children by a strong wind (Job 1 19). But he can make the wrath of men or demons to praise him and cause even a stormy wind to fulfill his word (Ps. 148 8). In Rev. 7 1, see the angels controlling the winds. It seems to me that this great storm of wind of our lesson (v. 37) must have been from the devil because the Lord rebuked it (v. 39), and he would not rebuke his own wind. Now I would not give the devil too much credit on the line of knowing things beforehand, nor would I make light of his knowledge but there is a possibility that he knew that if the Lord Jesus crossed over to Gadara he might lose that fine piece of his work in the form of that demon-possessed man whom no chains could bind, and so fierce that no one could pass by that way. In Matt. 8:28, it is recorded that there were two of them. If he had that knowledge we can understand why he sent the storm to sink if possible the boat with the Lord and his disciples. In some respects the devil is an awful fool, and certainly does not know the power of God, and in these days (1917-1918) when the nations are raging, and the people imagining vain things as never before, the Lord has them in derision, and will yet set his king upon his holy hill of Zion (Ps. 2:1-6). Even if the Lord had allowed the devil to destroy that boat, he could easily have walked ashore on the water and enabled his disciples to do the same. I like to watch him sleeping so calmly in the midst of that great storm, and there is no storm in which we may not be calm if we have faith in him (Ps. 27 1-3.) We are too often like the disciples, and afraid that some real evil will befall us, and he often has occasion to say to us, "Why are ye so fearful? How is it that ye have no faith?" "Why are ye troubled, and why do thoughts arise in your hearts?" (v. 40 and Luke 24 38.) How grand to see him quietly awake from sleep and arise and say to wind and sea, Peace, be still, and then to see the great storm give place to a great calm (vs. 7 39). As he slept he was truly human as he stilled the storm he was truly God, so he was and ever is both God and man, and there never can be in our lives or circumstances a storm however great that he cannot with a word, change to a great calm, for he always was, and ever is, the one who maketh the storm a calm (Ps. 107:29). We may still hear him say, "My peace I give unto you," and we can let the peace of God rule in our hearts (John 14 27; Col. 3:15). He alone can still the present strife of nations, and speak peace to them all and it shall yet be seen that he is the one promised to David to sit on his throne, and of whom David said "Is this the manner of man, O Lord God?" (2 Sam. 7:19; compare lesson verse 41.)

Does it not seem as if some of the nations were as demon possessed today as this man, or these men, of Gadara? But our Lord Jesus has the same power as ever, and at the appointed time 'Our God shall come, and shall not keep silence' (Ps. 50 3 6). After Israel shall have seen him coming in his glory and shall have received him according to Isa. 25 9, and have come to her right mind, then shall nations run to her because the Lord God, the holy one of Israel shall have glorified her (Isa. 55 5; compare Mark 5:7). According to Matt. 8:29, the demons said "Art thou come hither to torment us before the time?" for they seemed to know that torment awaits them in due time (Rev. 20 10). This same Jesus is daily delivering those whom Satan has bound with chains of sin, and there is no case too hard for him; and he is saying to all who have such afflicted ones, "Bring them to me," "Have faith and doubt not." The property of the Gadarenes had been touched, and they had sought Jesus to depart from them (5 17) and it is so still when the gospel conflicts with business, and we are moving on to the time when the devil will control all buying and selling (Rev. 13 to 17).

'CHEER PARTIES" FOR RECRUITS SET EXAMPLE OTHER CITIES FOLLOW

"Let us give a stirring send-off to recruits for the British lines in France," said Postmaster W. B. Carlisle of Chicago, as reason for initiating "Cheering parties" on the Government building steps. "Let representative Americans send the thrill to those men that will assure them that America is solidly behind the soldiers, the sailors and the executives who carry on our fight for Freedom," said his appeal.

Forthwith the daily squads of volunteers tramping to the train to the skirl of a Highlander band were given a rousing example of what America's sentiments are, one that has been taken up in other cities where the British Canadian Recruiting Mission has depots. Defense and patriotic organizations heeded the call and arranged for representations daily in the cheering, waving throngs.

MODERN FARMING

Modern farming is reaching into what but a few years past we spoke of as scientific farming. The modern farmer of this age has to deal with principles as well as facts to succeed in competition with his neighbor. Who has already availed himself of the working principles that govern the production of his crops. Much of the credit for this condition must be given to the painstaking practical research work of the colleges, which has demonstrated cause and effect in practical agriculture. An experiment that does not demonstrate the principles that govern the results is not complete and should not be accepted as reliable evidence on which to establish farm practice. You cannot make a "silk purse out of a sow's ear," no matter how much it may be made to resemble it, and we cannot long keep up the deception.

SUMMARY FOR SWINE SUCCESS

Among Other Things Indiana Experiment Station Says Breed for Early Litters.

The Indiana experiment station gives the following summary for success:

First, breed for as early litters as conditions on the farm will permit;

Money Makers on Any Farm.

second, have sows bred as close together as possible; third, it pays to keep a record of farrowing dates; fourth to avoid failure with the male use common hog sense; fifth, feed balanced rations; sixth, keep the sows gaining in flesh; seventh, see that the sows have an abundance of exercise; eighth the hoghouse should be clean, roomy and comfortable; ninth, do not feed ice water; tenth be on guard against flies and disease.

TO PRODUCE BETTER CATTLE

Improvement Made by Breeders Never More Rapid Than at Present—Poor Cows Not Wanted.

The tendency to produce better cattle has gained the ascendency in the minds and efforts of cattle breeders and improvement has never been more rapid than now. A very poor grade of heifers or cows would find a very slow sale under the present influence of quality and growth.

The farmer who has had the rough feed believes this kind of an investment cannot help but result profitably. It is this belief that is going to be the salvation of the meat problem of the country, in the matter of general meat supply. The big, growthy animal may consume a little more grass and rough feed, but its pounds of growth and gain will pay the bill and leave a balance in its favor when the feed yard period has passed.

WHAT CATTLE WORKERS DID

Field Agents Gave Advice to 5,300 Farmers, Addressed Meetings and Gave Other Aid.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Field agents in beef cattle extension work according to the annual report of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture in the last fiscal year gave specific advice to 5300 farmers addressed 539 meetings with attendance of 53786 people, were instrumental in placing with farmers 2991 breeding cattle besides 960 hogs, a number of breeding mares and 1432 feeder cattle. Direct assistance was given in building 113 silos and 25 additional live stock organizations were formed. Demonstrations given included 58 in baby beef, 150 in steer feeding, 42 in cattle pasturing and over 1,000 in hog raising.

Glowing accounts of how the Yankees are grabbing star players are printed in the New York papers one day and denied the next. Evidently Gotham scribes know as much about the Yankee outfit as does some hick from Squirrel Center.

MUSKRAT FOR FOOD

The enormous numbers of carcasses of muskrats which are thrown away after the pelts have been removed is a waste of food. The muskrat is an animal of most cleanly habits, is most discriminating in choice of food, and is a very acceptable addition to the table.

The writer can speak from personal experience to the effect that when cooked as rabbits are cooked the meat of the muskrat is extremely palatable. As a matter of fact, muskrats are sold for food in some of the eastern markets and some hunting clubs in the East have animal banquets in which the muskrat forms the chief dish. In some places this animal is known as the "marsh rabbit."

It is to be hoped that this means of reducing the cost of living, although slight, may not be overlooked.—F. L. Washburn, Minnesota Experiment Station.

RAISING MORE BEEF CATTLE

Thousands of New Breeding Herds Being Established All Over Country With Better Stock.

It is a fact that there are thousands of new breeding herds being established all over the country. It is also a fact that farmers and small ranchmen are using more care in selecting the heifers and cows for these new herds and the additions they are making to the herds they already have on their farms. Better quality has been preached from every hilltop in the land.

Fine Beef Specimen.

The live stock journals and agricultural papers have not let up in their advocacy of pure-bred cattle for the beef herds, and the voice has been heeded.

Pitcher Bill James, the old Braves' star, says his wing is again O. K., and hopes Boss Stallings will give him an opportunity to prove it.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

Don't eat bite of breakfast until you drink glass of hot water

Happy, bright alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change it could take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks" "rundowns" "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throngh of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waster, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged ot obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin odes not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.
